-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --
Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on August 22, 2006 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 15-19 and 22-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Tseng et al. (PGPUB: US 2004/0199693).

Regarding claims 15-16 and 22-23, Tseng discloses an external memory including a single physical region; and an address translator (inherent) coupled between the microprocessor and the external memory for translating a page and an address within the page pointed to by the microprocessor when accessing the external memory into a physical address of the external memory, and for mapping a predetermined range of addresses (addresses corresponding to the interrupt service routine) within all pages pointed to by the microprocessor when accessing the external memory into the single physical region (Figure 2, Reference 26) of the external memory

Art Unit: 2187

Regarding claims 17-19 and 24-26, Tseng discloses mapping addresses outside the predetermined range of addresses within all pages to areas of the external memory not within the single physical region (the addresses from the microprocessor are intrinsically translated to the physical addresses of the external memory; addresses that do not correspond with the interrupt service routine are not mapped to the interrupt service but instead are mapped to other areas of the physical memory).

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 20-21 and 27-28 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
